HARVEY POLLACK

March 9, 1922 - June 23, 2015

At the time of his passing, Herbert Harvey Pollack was the last original employee from the NBA's inaugural season to still be employed in the league. Born in Camden, New Jersey, Pollack was a lifelong resident of the Philadelphia area and was the patriarch of two children, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

"Harvey has been a true caretaker and ambassador of the game, and he will be sorely missed," said NBA Commissioner Adam Silver of Pollack's legacy.

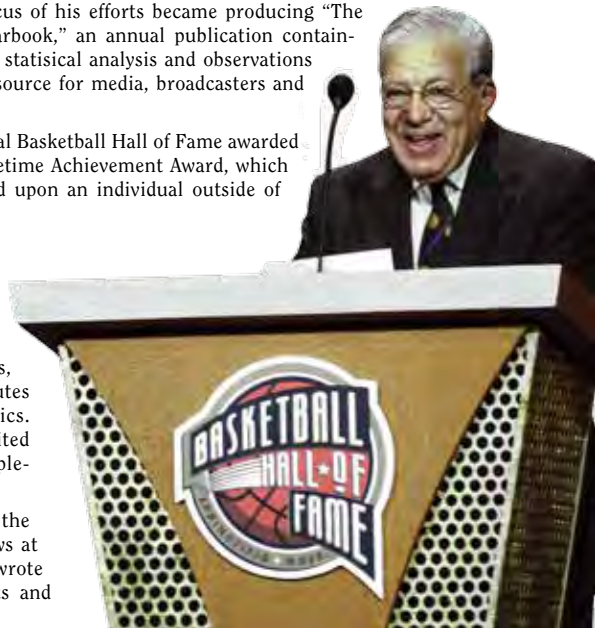
A graduate of Temple University in 1943, Pollack served in the United States Army during World War II. His first job returning from service was as a sportswriter for the Philadelphia Bulletin.

In 1946, Pollack began his career as the assistant publicity director of the Philadelphia Warriors of the Basketball Association of America, which later merged with the National Baskeball League to form the National Basketball Association. Pollack eventually became the team's head of media relations.

It was during his time with the Warriors that Pollack became part of basketball lore. On March 2, 1962, Warriors center Wilt Chamberlain set the NBA single game scoring mark with 100 points in a win against New York at Hershey Sports Arena. With the lack of a major media presence because of the neutral site setting, Pollack scrambled to capture the legendary accomplishment and scribbled '100' on a white piece of paper for Chamberlain to pose with. The photo became one of the most iconic images in not just the history of basketball, but the entire sporting world.

Following that season, the Warriors moved to San Francisco, but Pollack stayed behind. Though Philadelphia was without a franchise, Pollack continued to work for the league as a public relations contact for neutral site games. In 1963, the Syracuse Nationals became the Philadelphia 76ers and Pollack was named the team's media relations director, a title he held until the 1987-88 season.

Pollack then began a 28-year run as the team's director of statistical information. The primary focus of his efforts became producing "The Harvey Pollack Statistical Yearbook," an annual publication containing hundreds of pages of NBA statisical analysis and observations which served as a valuable resource for media, broadcasters and front office personnel.



In 2002, the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame awarded Pollack the John W. Bunn Lifetime Achievement Award, which is the highest honor bestowed upon an individual outside of enshrinement.

Nicknamed "Super Stat" by George Kiseda of the Philadelphia Bulletin, Pollack is credited with having the league track offensive and defensive rebounds, steals, turnovers, blocks and minutes played among other statistics. Pollack is also widely credited with coining the term "triple-double."

In addition to his work with the NBA, Pollack headed stat crews at multiple area colleges and wrote reviews for movies, resturants and shows.

Delaware 87ers

On April 27, 2013, the NBA Development League announced that the Philadelphia 76ers purchased the rights to own and operate the former Utah Flash, which were on hiatus since the end of the 2010-11 NBA D-League season. The team was renamed the Delaware 87ers and became the single-affliate for the 76ers. The 87ers play their home games at the Bob Carpenter Center on the campus of the University of Delaware.

The team name, 87ers, was selected in recognition of Delaware's place in United States history, as it was the first state to ratify the U.S. Constitution on December 7, 1787. The 87ers are nicknamed the "Sevens" as a nod to the way the parent club is often referred to as the Sixers.

SAM HINKIE

President of Basketball Operations and General Manager

Sam Hinkie was named President of Basketball Operations and General Manager of the Philadelphia 76ers on May 14, 2013. Hinkie joined the Sixers following eight years with the Houston Rockets, most recently as Executive Vice President of Basketball Operations.

From the inception, Hinkie's moves, hires and decisions served to reshape the storied Sixers franchise and lay a foundation for future success. His aggressive pursuit in achieving this goal resulted in a total of 27 trades in his first 29 months on the job, with the Sixers accumulating a wealth of new players, exclusive NBA rights to players, and draft picks in the process. The Sixers could own as many as four first round picks in the 2016 NBA Draft, including their own and the selections of potentially the Los Angeles Lakers, the Sacramento Kings, the Miami Heat, the Oklahoma City Thunder, and the Golden State Warriors.

Hinkie and the Sixers brought former Duke University center and 2015 NCAA National Champion Jahlil Okafor to Philadelphia with the third overall pick in the 2015 NBA Draft—the latest in a string of historic draft night acquisitions for the Sixers in recent years.

During the summer of 2013, Hinkie and his team doubled down on the Sixers future by dealing Jrue Holiday to New Orleans in exchange for the rights to Nerlens Noel, who was the sixth overall pick in the 2013 NBA Draft, and what turned out to be the 10th overall pick in the 2014 NBA Draft. The Sixers eventually used that pick to complete a trade with Orlando in which they netted Dario Saric, who was the 12th overall pick in 2014, and to regain Philadelphia's first round pick in 2017. Saric was named the FIBA Europe Young Men's Player of the Year in both 2013 and 2014. The 2014 also netted University of Kansas standout Joel Embiid (third overall) and Jerami Grant of Syracuse (39th overall).

The ingenuity of Hinkie's administration was in full display in the form of a trade with Sacramento in July 2015. The Sixers acquired Nik Stauskas, who was the eighth overall pick in 2014, along with a future first round pick and the rights to swap first round picks with the Kings in 2016 and 2017 in exchange for the rights to a pair of late second round picks from the 2014 NBA Draft.

The Sixers relentless search to add talent has also resulted in the likes of players like Isaiah Canaan, Richaun Holmes, Hollis Thompson and Robert Covington joining the roster. Canaan (the 34th pick in the 2013 NBA Draft) and Holmes (the 37th pick in the 2015 NBA Draft) were acquired via a trade-deadline deal in 2014 involving former 32nd pick K.J. McDaniels. Canaan saw his scoring average more than double after the trade as he averaged 13 points in 22 games for the Sixers following the deadline. Holmes, who was named Mid-American Conference Defensive Player of the Year his senior year at Bowling Green, begins his rookie campaign in 2015-16. Thompson was signed as a free agent prior to the 2013-14 season after spending the previous season in the NBA Development League. He became the 12th player in NBA history with at least 180 3-pointers made over the first two seasons of a career while shooting 40.0% or better from behind-the-arc. Covington was signed by the Sixers in November of 2014 after being waived by Houston and finished the season tied for the most 3-pointers made through the first 77 games of a career in NBA history.

Hinkie began his NBA career with the Rockets in 2005 as Special Assistant to the General Manager (then Carroll Dawson), one year prior to the arrival of current Rockets GM Daryl Morey. After a promotion to become the youngest Vice President in the NBA in 2007, Sam was again promoted to Executive Vice President in 2010.

While with the Rockets, Hinkie led the team's considerable analytic efforts, using data to improve decision making in the NBA Draft, free agency, trade and game strategy. Additionally, Hinkie provided day-to-day management of basketball operations, managed the Rockets salary cap and scouted prospects in person across the collegiate and professional ranks.

During Hinkie's tenure in Houston, the Rockets emerged as a leading franchise in any sport in the use of analytics, and Sam and his team's efforts have been profiled by The New York Times, Sports Illustrated, ESPN, and in Michael Lewis's New York Times Sunday Magazine cover story on Shane Battier (The No-Stats All-Star). He has presented and lectured at Harvard, Stanford, and Wharton and has been an original contributor to the leading sports analytics conference held annually at MIT since its inception in 2007.

From 2006-07 through 2008-09, the Rockets won more regular season games (160) than in any three-year run in the history of the franchise. In 2007-09, the team won a remarkable 22 straight games, which stands as the fourth-longest winning streak in major U.S. professional sports history.

Prior to joining the Rockets, Sam advised NFL teams on draft strategies and ways to use statistical analysis to improve decision making. Hinkie also held positions in private equity & venture capital after beginning his career as a strategy consultant at Bain & Company.

Sam serves on the Advisory Board of KIPP, an innovative charter school network focused on disadvantaged children in urban communities. He also serves on the National Advisory Board of Positive Coaching Alliance, a non-profit group that encourages character building through youth sports.

Hinkie graduated summa cum laude from the University of Oklahoma and was named one of the top 60 undergraduate students in the nation by USA Today. He also holds an MBA from Stanford, graduating with highest honors as an Arjay Miller Scholar.

Hinkie resides in suburban Philadelphia with his wife and four sons.

SACHIN GUPTA

Vice President of Basketball Operations

Sachin Gupta is in his third season with the Sixers and his second as the team's Vice President of Basketball Operations. He joined the team as a consultant prior to the 2013 NBA Draft and since that time has assisted General Manager Sam Hinkie in driving the team's overhaul.

Gupta began his NBA career with the Houston Rockets in 2006 as General Manager Daryl Morey's first hire, laying the foundation for the team's extensive analytics undertaking, which the Rockets would later become renowned for. In addition to his responsibilities as an analyst, Gupta also assisted in managing the team's salary cap during his six-year tenure in Houston.

Prior to joining the Rockets, Gupta spent two years at ESPN where he had a hand in fostering basketball's analytical movement, implementing advanced NBA metrics on ESPN.com before their use had become widespread across the league. While at ESPN, he also became well versed in the CBA when he developed the widely popular NBA Trade Machine.

Originally from the Boston area, Gupta has earned a degree in Computer Science and Electrical Engineering from MIT, as well as an MBA from Stanford's Graduate School of Business.

BEN FALK

Vice President of Basketball Strategy

Ben Falk is in his second season as Vice President of Basketball Strategy. He joined the Sixers after spending the previous four seasons as the Basketball Analytics Manager for the Portland Trail Blazers.

While with the Blazers, Falk worked closely with the front office and the coaching staff, leading team efforts in integrating statistics and technology into coaching and management processes. He first joined the team as a part-time statistical analyst beginning in November of 2008 while still enrolled at the University of Maryland.

The Potomac, Md. native graduated with degrees in Economics and Internet and Society.

BRANDON D. WILLIAMS

76ers Basketball Operations
General Manager 87ers

Brandon D. Williams joined the 76ers front office and was named General Manager of the Philadelphia 76ers NBA Development League affiliate, the Delaware 87ers, on September 13, 2013.

Williams enters his third season with the organization after serving the previous eight seasons in the NBA's League Office, most recently as the NBA's Associate Vice President of Basketball Operations, where he oversaw the standards of on-court operations, evaluating the quality of game play, monitoring matters of conduct and discipline, as well as officiating performance via the Standard Observers Program. As the league promoted the vision of developing a true minor league system, Williams consulted on an array of NBA Development League issues, collaborating to effectuate synergies in the league's Affiliation and Assignment System, to promote growth and expansion. Prior to that position, Williams served as the Director of Player Development in the NBA's Community and Player Programs department, where he was responsible for managing the team player development relationship for several NBA teams. While the overarching goal was to advance the professional, personal, and social growth of NBA athletes, Williams showed a specific ability to design creative programs centered on two key goals to enhance individual player skill-sets, and elevate the collective image and brand. He worked closely with teams across the league in helping prepare players for the demands of being a professional athlete as well as aiding their eventual transition away from the game to a second career.

Williams is well versed in the challenges a young player faces in his pursuit of making the NBA. A standout player at Davidson, Williams earned All-Southern Conference First Team honors as a senior in 1996. After going undrafted, Williams played both overseas and in the Continental Basketball Association before appearing in his first NBA game as a member of the Golden State Warriors in 1998. Williams then joined the San Antonio Spurs, who went on to win the NBA Championship in the 1998-99 season. All totaled for his career, Williams played 9 seasons, for four NBA teams, and internationally in six countries,. He also experienced the D-League up close as an Honorable Mention All D-League player for the Huntsville Flight in 2003 and winning a championship for the Sioux Falls Skyforce before retiring in 2005.

VINCE ROZMAN

Director of Basketball Operations & Scouting Innovation

Vince Rozman is in his 10th season with the Sixers and his second as Director of Basketball Operations and Scouting Innovation.

Rozman started out as an intern with the Sixers basketball operations department for the 2006-07 season and was named was named the team's scouting coordinator at the conclusion of his internship.

In his current role, Rozman is heavily involved with the team's draft preparation in addition to assisting Sixers President of Basketball Operations and General Manager Sam Hinkie on a variety of projects.

A native of Cleveland, Rozman graduated from Ohio University. He and his wife, Caitlin, reside in the Philadelphia area.

BRETT BROWN

Head Coach

Brett Brown was named head coach of the Sixers on August 14, 2013 after spending the previous 11 seasons as an assistant coach for the San Antonio Spurs under Gregg Popovich. Brown was a member of the Spurs organization for their first four championship seasons (1999, 2003, 2005 and 2007).

From the start, Brown placed emphasis on player development and a commitment to an elite level of conditioning as the pillars of his program in Philadelphia. Both focal points helped Brown's Sixers demonstrate tremendous improvement on the defensive end from his first season to his second. The Sixers allowed nearly nine fewer points per game in 2014-15 than they did during Brown's first season, which was the second-largest decrease from one season to the next in franchise history.

Brown's Sixers ranked tied for first in the league in steals and second in turnovers forced in 2014-15 after ranking first in both categories during his first season. The Sixers have also set the franchise record for 3-pointers made in each of Brown's two seasons after having the second-fewest 3FGM of any non-expansion team from 1997-98 through 2012-13.

Brown's personal touch with player development has been evident in the growth of several Sixers, but none more than Nerlens Noel. Even though Noel missed the entire 2013-14 season rehabbing an injury, Brown could be seen individually working with Noel every pregame. When Noel finally hit the court last season, he posted averages not seen by a player since Hakeem Olajuwon.

The Sixers fielded the youngest team in the league in both of Brown's seasons as head coach. In 2014-15, the Sixers had 14 undrafted players on their roster at some point, smashing the previous league single season record of 10. A total of 24 players saw action in at least one game for the Sixers last season, up from 23 during Brown' first season in 2013-14.

Brown originally joined the Spurs as a member of their basketball operations department in 1998-99 but left after the season to become the head coach of the Sydney Kings of the Australian National Basketball League (NBL). He re-joined the Spurs in July of 2002 as the team's assistant coach/director of player development and was moved to the bench as an assistant coach prior to the 2006-07 season.

A native of Maine, Brown played at South Portland High School for his father Bob Brown, who is a New England Basketball Hall of Famer. The younger Brown went on to attend Boston University where he played under Rick Pitino. Brown was named team MVP his sophomore year and served as team captain his final two seasons, helping the Terriers reach the NCAA Tournament as a senior in 1983. For his career, Brown posted an assist-to-turnover ratio of 2.19 and left ranked fourth in school history in assists (404). In 2013, Brown joined his father as an inductee into the New England Basketball Hall of Fame.

In addition to his time with the Spurs, Brown has a wealth of coaching experience in Australia, where he met and married his wife, Anna. He started as an assistant coach with the Melbourne Tigers under Lindsay Gaze, a member of both the Australian and FIBA Hall of Fame.

Brown was named head coach of the North Melbourne Giants in 1993 and earned NBL Coach of the Year honors in 1994 after leading the Giants to the National Championship. Including his return to the NBL for three seasons with the Sydney Kings in 1999, Brown amassed 149 career coaching victories, sixth-most in league history.

In March of 2009, Brown was named head coach of the Australian National Team. He had previously served as an assistant for eight years, including both the 1996 and 2000 Olympic Games as well as the 1998 World Championships. Brown led Australia to the FIBA Oceania Championship over rival New Zealand in 2011 to secure a bid to the 2012 Olympics.

At the London games in 2012, Brown guided Australia to what many consider one of its best Olympic runs, culminating with a win over eventual bronze medalist Russia before being eliminated by Team USA in the quarterfinals. Overall, Australia compiled a 3-3 mark without the services of injured star Andrew Bogut.

Brown and his wife Anna have been married for over 20 years and have two daughters, Julia and Laura, and a son, Sam.

COMMUNITY

Community Engagement Programing

The Sixers believe that a better tomorrow is earned; that greatness is not just created, but honed, crafted, and developed. It takes hunger, hard work, and a bit of optimism to achieve something great, and the Sixers strive to achieve it by finding new, better paths.

These are the values that we endeavor to impart to the youth across the communities where our fans live, work, and play. These communities embody the spirit of our country's founders, the spirit of the underdog, and exemplify the determination to overcome challenges, to beat the odds and prevail. We are committed to helping kids take charge of their lives, discover their potential, and create promising, fulfilling futures.

We know the power of sports to transform lives—particularly our sport, the game of basketball. And it's not just the game, it's the experience of honing physical abilities, channeling and managing emotions, developing a positive self-image and keen focus, and embracing teamwork. Mastering these disciplines gives young people the feeling of success and accomplishment, especially when they do so in camaraderie with others.

We believe in Sixers Strong: Strong youth and strong communities with promising futures. By becoming involved, we can help young people become meaningfully engaged in life, to develop their own personal visions, and to become our future leaders and innovators.

While our community engagement program is designed to provide opportunities for youth across the communities where our fans live, work, and play, we also have a special focus through the Sixers Youth Foundation on neighborhoods within Philadelphia and Camden that are most stressed by economic pressures and social challenges.

Our Vision

A great vision requires a vibrant imagination and daring. In formulating a vision, we ask ourselves, "How will lives of those who live in our communities—where our fans live, work, and play—be better because the Sixers are involved?" We wanted a vision that is compelling, a bit audacious, and even larger than our capabilities alone, so that we might inspire others and invite them to collaborate, to innovate, and bring about substantive, palpable, productive change. In the statement we have crafted, we believe we have achieved that aspiration, and from the response from community partners and collaborators, we have plenty of evidence to support it.

The Sixers envision communities where all children have the opportunity to create, pursue, and realize their dreams, and live productive lives.

The Sixers are committed to reaching out into the lives of young people in our communities through clinics and in-depth engagements that help young people develop physical and emotional strength, a sense of personal well being, and an attitude of teamwork and service to others.

Our Mission

In crafting our mission, we focus on what we can do that will have the greatest impact in achieving our vision. The result is both an action statement and a promise:

Through the transformative power of basketball and engaged coaching, develop our youth into the next generation of innovators and leaders in the communities where our fans live, work, and play.

Our Programs and Activities

Transforming Lives

Sixers Youth Foundation

The Sixers Youth Foundation is devoted to bringing positive change to the lives of young people in Philadelphia and Camden. The Foundation has developed and is investing in two signature programs in the coming years for middle school-aged youth: Promoting Healthy Development and the Sixers Neighborhood Basketball Program.

Through these programs, the Sixers Youth Foundation is helping young people who live in challenged communities and in vulnerable families develop healthy physical, social, emotional, and academic skills. Through Promoting Healthy Development we are collaborating educators and local schools to implement an in-depth engagement with students, including volunteer coaches who personally support the young people in transforming their lives and their futures.

Complementing the Promoting Healthy Development program, the Sixers are collaborating with local organizations that serve middle-school youth, to sponsor, promote, and support the Sixers Neighborhood Basketball Program. Through this program we are helping young people develop physically, emotionally, and mentally, while fostering a life-long love of the game of basketball.

The Sixers Youth Foundation believes that by fostering a bold and gutsy positive attitude in young people, and through nurturing their devotion and commitment to a productive end goal, that they can achieve their own personal greatness; and whatever endeavor they choose to pursue, will be honed, crafted, and developed. The motto we encourage for all those involved in our program is: "I won't let others predict my future, --- I will invent my future, I will create my success."

SIXERS
Youth Foundation

Connecting to the Community

We connect to our fans and our communities in a number of ways, by hosting community activities, (outreach and in-arena events), conferring recognition and awards, deploying Sixers employees to volunteer throughout our communities, and by donating memorabilia and tickets. In delivering our programs to the community, we involve Sixers' employees from across the organization, asking each to commit at least 76 hours of volunteer service each year. A number of these volunteers participate in a rigorous coach-training program so that they can effectively engage and mentor young people who participate in our programs.

Our signature community activity is a 90-minute clinic that combines the power of basketball with individualized coaching and mentoring to help middle school-aged young people cultivate positive values and develop life-skills. The interactive clinic uses skill-building activities to inspire and engage students. In addition to the clinics, which are held throughout the year, the Sixers also partner with the NBA to conduct a series of outreach and in-arena events that supplement our outreach activities and sustain a sense of momentum.

Additionally, we will host "Blue Goes Green" night with PECO, an environment-friendly theme night encouraging youth and families to make healthy and environmentally conscious choices.

The late Walter Stahlberg, of West Collingswood, N.J., won a contest to name the club in 1963. The choice of the club's nickname was announced on Aug. 6, 1963. There were almost 500 different suggestions among the entries and Stahlberg was one of several who picked the 76ers. However his accompanying 25-word explanation was deemed the best by the judges, and he and his wife received an all-expense trip to the West Coast to see the 76ers play San Francisco.

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS UNIFORM HISTORY

1997-2009

1994-97

1991-94

1978-91

2015-Present: On June 18, 2015, the Sixers revealed new home (white), road (blue) and alternate (red) uniforms which were designed using elements from different eras in franchise history. "PHILA" is emblazoned across the chest of the home and road jerseys as a homage to the 1966-67 Championship team. The alternate red jersey has "SIXERS" sprawled across the front, to honor the 1982-83 Championship team. All three uniforms are decorated with a column of stars down each side in the fashion of the 1976-77 uniforms. Each jersey also has the phrase "PHILA TOUGH" sewn into the waist-level hem, visible only to the players prior to being tucked in.

2009-2015: Prior to the 2009-10 season ,the Sixers re-designed their uniform to feature the team's new primary "76ers basketball" logo with the red, white and blue color scheme. Trimmed in blue and red, the team will wear white uniforms with blue lettering and red numbers at home. On the road, the team will wear red uniforms, trimmed with blue and white, that feature white lettering and numbers. In the summer of 2010, the uniforms underwent some minor revisions, including blue piping added around the neck and shoulders among other aesthetic details. The Sixers also debuted an alternate blue uniform in the 2012-13 season opener.

2007 - 2009: Both the Sixers home and road jerseys underwent a bit of a facelift in the summer of 2007. Influenced by the secondary red road uniform, which was introduced the previous season, the home and road designs featured a refined red taping stretching from the jersey to the shorts. The material itself was also completely overhauled, as the new fabric was adidas clima-cool flatback mesh on the front with open-holed metallic stretchair fabrication on the back and in key venting zones through the front of the shoulders.

2007 - 2009: During the 2006-07 season, the 76ers unveiled a new second road uniform with red as the predominant color accented by the team's other official colors of white, blue, black, silver and gold. Produced by adidas, the jerseys featured a new "PHILA" wordmark across the front in a design similar to the team's primary logo, as well as blue and white stripinng around the V-neck. The red shorts are adorned with the Sixers secondary logo above a blue accent on the side of the left leg.

Present Home Uniform

1999 – 2006: Philadelphia added a new second road uniform during the 1999-00 season. The blue jersey sports a stylish new cut that's full of tradition from the great Sixers teams of the 1960's and 1970's. Trimmed in red and black, the jersey featured the "SIXERS" wordmark on the front with white numbers trimmed in red.

1997 – 2007: Prior to the 1997-98 season, the Sixers unveiled a completely new look including the first major logo change since becoming the Philadelphia 76ers in August of 1963. In keeping with the traditional red and blue, the logo was "modernized" by adding silver, gold and black. For the first time in franchise history, the Sixers wore black uniforms on the road. Trimmed in red and gold, the jersey that features the word "SIXERS" on the front with white numbers trimmed in red on the back. At home, a white jersey features black numbers trimmed in red.

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS UNIFORM HISTORY

1977-78

1976-77

1971-76

1966-70

1965-66

1994 – 97: This uniform was actually a throwback to the classic Sixers look. Designed by Lucy Loeb, the front featured "SIXERS" in a more ornate block lettering. This garb was white with red and blue trim at home and red with white and blue trim on the road.

1991 – 94: The Sixers uniform was redesigned by Champion Products and was a departure from the classic Sixers uniform. The design featured multicolored stars against a royal blue field that curved up from shorts to the jersey. The background of the away uniform remained red.

1978 – 91: The NBA begins to regulate uniform changes more closely. A rule is installed by the league requiring teams to use an exclusive outfitter and alert the NBA one year in advance of a design change. This uniform becomes the Sixers' hallmark, with the numeral surrounded by stars on the shorts. The road color returned to red. The uniforms were manufactured first by Wilson, then by Sand Knit. The 76ers played more games in this uniform (1,066) than any other in the history of the franchise.

1977 – 78: The lettering on the jersey was readjusted, with home uniforms lettered in blue and outlined in white and red, while away uniforms were royal blue with white lettering in red trim.

1976-77: Another one-shot uniform surfaced, this time with a theme. In honor of the Bicentennial, the team turned to the cursive lettering and trim numerals of the 1970-71 season. The new uniforms were designed by Pat Williams, Al Domenico, Billy Cunningham and Sonder Levitt Advertising.

1971-76: SonderLevitt Advertising designed a uniform that had a much longer lifespan than its predecessor. With the new art deco-like lettering, the uniforms retained the star-inset blue side stripe, a graphic element that remained a feature through the 70's. Away uniforms were royal blue with white side stripes and stars.

1970-71: With its red-in-blue and cursive lettering, the Sixers next official home uniform (the old red garb was retained for away games), did not please Sixers suppliers. Midseason trades meant impossible turnaround times for these custom-sewn, flowing script uniforms. In the middle of the season a switch is made and "Seventy Sixers", in script, replaces "PHILA" on the front of the uniform.

1966-70: The Sixers went to the straightforward look during their first championship run. Simple block letters with the traditional "PHILA" on the front replaced the star-spangled banner look. Road uniforms became red with blue lettering and white trim.

1965-66: A two-tone uniform with a high waistband and long, baggy trunks was introduced. The players considered it flashy and uncomfortable to play in and it was abandoned after one season.

1963-65: The Sixers opened their run in Philadelphia with a Betsy Ross-inspired uniform (below). Adorned with a circle of stars on both the shorts and the back of the jersey surrounding the player's number, the stars quickly became a hallmark of the Sixers uniforms. The road uniform was dark blue with red lettering and numbers. Midway through the '64-65 season the style of the letters and numbers was changed.

 Early draft records are incomplete, so until 1956 players are listed alphabetically.*

Beginning in 1957, the draft is recorded round-by-round. To enable teams to take advantage of the regional popularity of college stars, they were given the option of forfeiting their first-round pick and instead selecting, before the start of the draft, a player from the franchise's immediate georgraphical area. These "territorial picks," as they were know, are not factored in to the overall selection count of the draft. The territorial option was in effect through 1965.

ALL-TIME ROSTER

Please note the following:

* Denotes that a player played for more than one team during that particular season and the team-by-team breakdown was not available. Each respective stat line is reflective of the entire season's statistics, which also affects the player's total stat lines.

(n) Denotes years played in the NBL with Syracuse, before the Nationals joined the NBA in 1949-50. NBL statistics are factored in to individual NBA totals, but do not affect team statistics/records.
